Copenhagen is the capital city of Denmark and has a population of around 560.000. The native language is Danish but most people also speak English. The easiest way to get around in Copenhagen is by bike or by public transport. Bicycles are everywhere, so be careful not to walk on the bike lanes and look for bikes before crossing a bike lane.

The venue is located in the center of Copenhagen, near the metro stations Nørreport and Kongens Nytorv. In the area, you will find lots of shopping opportunities, the most famous shopping street Strøget is nearby and in the streets around it are many small shops. Also close to the venue are the Kings Garden and the Botanical Garden as well as several museums and many other famous landmarks.

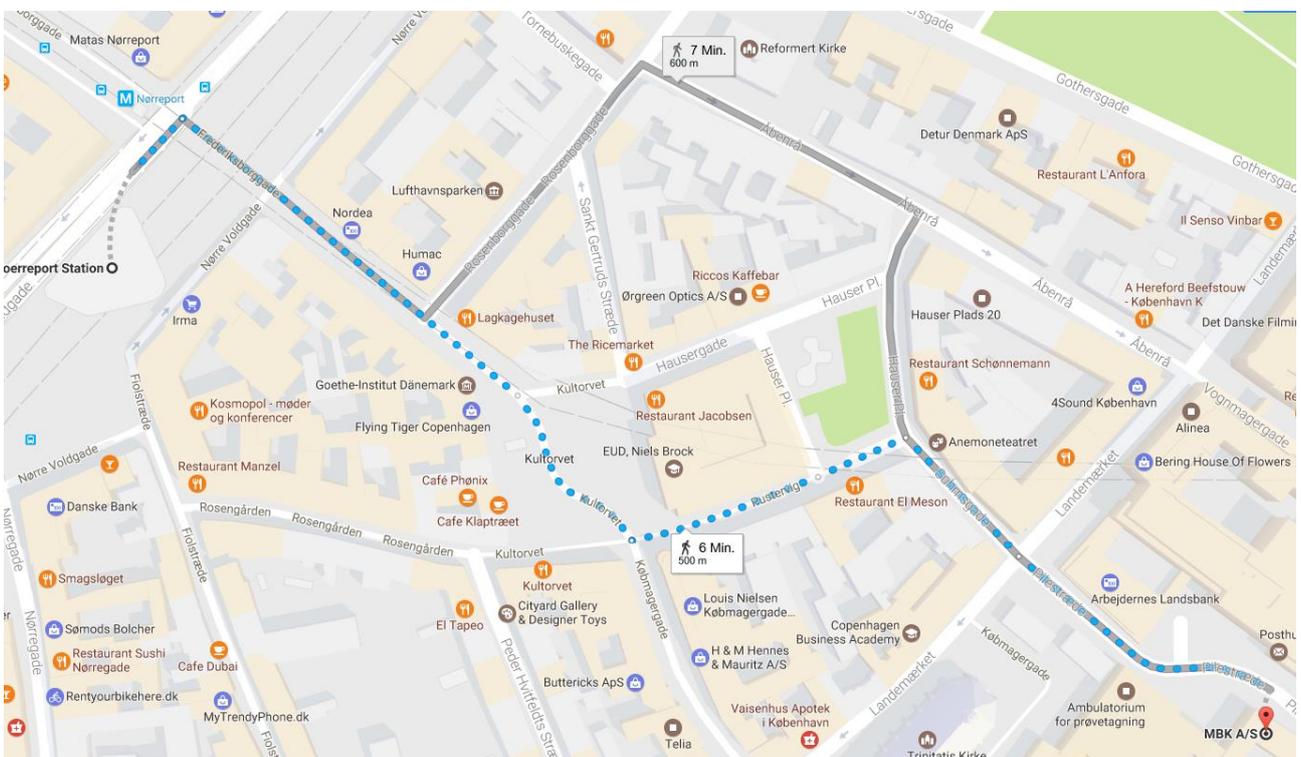

Just around the corner, you will find Rundetårn (The round tower) which is the oldest working observatory in Europe. It has a unique architecture and a ticket to walk to the top and get a good view of Copenhagen costs 25 DDK. The royal guards change at 12:00 every day and walk past Rundetårn just after 11:30.

There are grocery shops and restaurants on Nørreport and in the area around it. Just next to Nørreport, you will find Torvehallerne which is a food market consisting of small shops serving both local and foreign food.

The conference venue is located 500 meters from the Nørreport train and metro stations. From Nørreport walk down the Frederiksborggade and turn left onto Pustervig and then turn right onto Suhmsgade. Walk down Suhmsgade for one block, after which the street name will change to Pilestræde. Continue straight on Pilestræde until you reach the meeting venue on your right-hand side (see detailed map below).
